Chapter Toolkit 2024-2025

Dear Teacher Leaders,

Welcome to the 2024-25 school year! I want to welcome you and thank you! I deeply appreciate your commitment and dedication to the students of New Mexico and to the teaching profession as many of you are veteran teachers. Having people like you in the classroom with a drive and enthusiasm for teaching and learning is invaluable.

This Toolkit is meant to serve as a useful resource with details and suggestions to get your chapter started this school year, or to reinvigorate it. The materials will also be available on our website as a digital option so you can easily access the hyperlinks in the manual. Any updates made throughout the year to this toolkit will be available on our website. These resources have been largely developed by peer teacher leaders, and we are grateful for their time and expertise.

This year, we have some changes to where to access curriculum materials. We have moved away from MrOwl and have created several CANVAS based digital tools for your toolkit. For providing information about EdRisingNM we have Educators Rising 101. For teachers we have resources in a course titled Teacher Academy I. We are in the process of developing Teacher Academy II this fall. We do have many resources available to teacher leaders.

The state office is here to help you with all of your needs. Should you need materials, connections or PD opportunities please contact us. We are grateful to have your wisdom, intelligence, and heart as EdRising NM Teacher Leaders and wish you success this year!

Sincerely,

About Us

Educators Rising provides resources and opportunities that combine directly with Career and technical Education (CTE) courses at the secondary and post-secondary level (with dual credit as available).

Educators Rising is a community-based model, where co-curricular and extracurricular chapters at high schools feed Educator Preparation Programs (EPPs) at institutes of higher education with the support of State Departments of Education, local funders and foundations. As a CTSO, chapters provide students a place for support and networking, a strong curriculum that structures and prepares students for their future profession, with conferences that provide a stage to network and be recognized for their achievements in the profession and develop the collegiality that comes from being part of a community of professionals, and a movement, and performance based competitions that provide opportunities to prove themselves as professionals.

Collegiate chapters provide Teacher Prep and Education Policy Programs with a reliable source of aspiring educators from high school programs and help grow the profession by supporting students on their path to graduation and into the classroom. The result is a pipeline of accomplished educators who are positioned to make a lasting difference in the lives of their students, and the field of education.

Educators Rising NM was established in June of 2015 as a grassroots effort to fill the need for teachers in New Mexico, led by the late Dr. Karen Trujillo.

Educators Rising New Mexico offers support to New Mexico Teacher Leaders through ongoing communication and mentorship, connecting area universities with chapters, hosting annual state conferences and professional learning opportunities. We have a creative and collaborative network of Teacher Leaders committed to the students of New Mexico, the field of education, and willing to share their ideas, resources, and experience. Start a chapter and join our inspiring team today!

Tips for Recruiting Students

General Announcement/Meeting

- You might not get many takers announcing for the “Teacher Class” or “Future Teachers Club” as students already have set (and often negative) outlooks on the teaching profession. Instead, try making an announcement like:
 - “Are you interested in changing the world? Do you see yourself in a career making a lasting impact on people, changing lives and helping create stronger societies? If so, join us at _____ to discuss your place in an exciting new class / club we are offering”.
- You could also try a different approach that would serve to gain curiosity:
 - “Do you find yourself thinking about the future, but you have too many awesome skills to pick just one career? Join us at _____ to learn about an incredible program we are offering that will help you find the perfect fit if you consider yourself to be a leader with great people skills and looking for a career that has no limits!

Targeted/Specific Recruitment

- Identify students who have ALREADY displayed the critical skills needed for great teachers, such as:
 - Displays Growth Mindset
 - Displays Empathy
 - Displays Curiosity
 - Displays Leadership skills
 - Collaborative
 - Creative (thinking outside the box/divergent thinkers)
 - Problem Solver
 - Solution Creator
 - Supportive of others
 - Challenges thinking
 - Challenges stereotypes
 - Open to learning about different cultures, opinions, ideas, values
 - Seeks out or responds well to coaching/constructive feedback

- Social awareness
 - Displays Awareness of Equity
 - Good communication skills
 - Good listening skills
- Consider students who represent the diversity of the school and community who would bring a rich perspective to classrooms and schools (e.g., males, students of color, students spanning a variety of socio-economic levels, represent varied interests, etc.).
- Purposely seek out 1 or 2 students who will serve as great ambassadors for the chapter, even if they are not likely to become educators. They will still become more informed taxpayers with a healthy respect for teaching, while drumming up interest for others to follow suit.
- Think outside the box and break the mold of what previous generations may have looked to for teachers. 21st Century teachers teaching in 21st Century classrooms may not be 4.0 grade point Literature lovers. They need to be 4.0 PEOPLE lovers!
- Consider students who may have given you a run for your money in the past. Their “rambunctious” spirits as teenagers might prime them perfectly for being powerhouse change makers in their own classrooms!
- Once registered by the national office, log on to your membership portal and visit https://members.pdkintl.org/Recruitment_Promotion for further recruitment resources and tips!

Tips for your Chapter Recruiting Meeting

- Consider having more than one meeting to accommodate interests and needs (different lunch shifts, before/after school, etc.).
- Invite the superintendent and your administrators.
- Invite a student or alumni who has taken the class or been in the club (reach out to other school programs, alumni, and collegiate chapters).
- Keep it short and sweet but POWERFUL!
- Mention BIG selling points such as dual credit (if available), classroom observations, unique experiences (school board meetings, attend regional and state conferences, national conference, etc.).
- Think about what teenagers want to hear.
- Make membership somewhat exclusive, combatting the idea that “anybody can teach”. Plant the seeds EARLY that this is just not true.

Meeting Hints

Have a regular meeting time - once a week, once every two weeks, or once a month. If only once a month, be sure to communicate with your members between times (using bulletin boards, notes, announcements, text messages, email, or social media).

- Start meetings on time.
- Follow your agenda - we’ve provided a sample agenda on the next page.
- Write an agenda on the board or give each person a copy.
- Have paper and pencil for each member.
- Use parliamentary procedure.
- Find a regular meeting place - quiet, well lit, well ventilated, and easy to reach.

Promoting Your Chapter

- Ask teachers for recommendations of students who have expressed an interest in teaching.
- Advertise in your school newspaper.
- Have a booth at registration at the beginning of the year.
- Create a flier for students and teachers to hand out.
- Have committees for various activities. Be generous with responsibilities.
- Develop a booklet outlining the group's program.
- Provide door prizes at some of the meetings.
- Hold a faculty welcome and reception.
- Provide interesting programs with good speakers, movies, refreshments, and entertainment.
- Keep new members active and engaged.
- Hold group "brainstorming" sessions.
- Sponsor an activity for the entire student body.
- Place notices of meetings and activities on chalkboards in classrooms.
- Use a point system to encourage active membership and/or earn privileges.
- Create a web page highlighting chapter activities.

National/State Conference Policies and Expectations

Each year, Educators Rising hosts a conference to convene our network of rising educators and Teacher Leaders. It's a unique opportunity for students and their Teacher Leaders to:

- Connect and learn from each other through breakout sessions.
- Network with other members from across the country.
- Compete for titles in competitive performance-based events designed to allow students to develop and showcase their teaching skills.
- Be inspired by keynote presentations from education leaders.

Competition guidelines for the 2024-2025 year will be released in October after national rubrics and guidelines have officially released. Below are last year's guidelines for reference.

- Students could only participate in one Individual event and one Team event
- Competitions that do not meet a minimum entry count (At least 5 students [INDV] or 2 schools [TEAM]) will not be held. Students who applied for a cancelled competition can then compete at the national conference due to the removal from state.
- Individual/Dual events are considered individual events

Educators Rising NM Teacher Academy Curriculum

The following curriculum topics were created by the EdRising NM Curriculum Team, and are intended as a tool for Teacher Leaders in planning and implementing rigorous, standards-based/evidence-based instruction. Teachers are not required to teach every activity, and the calendar is not intended to keep teachers in lock step, but to guide them through the year. The curriculum team does recommend that students be exposed to these units as they are well aligned with the national Educators Rising Standards. The units and topics should be the focus of the curriculum. If your class is a dual credit course, that prescribed curriculum will supersede these recommendations.
